Shop Parking

SCHEIDT&BACHMANN

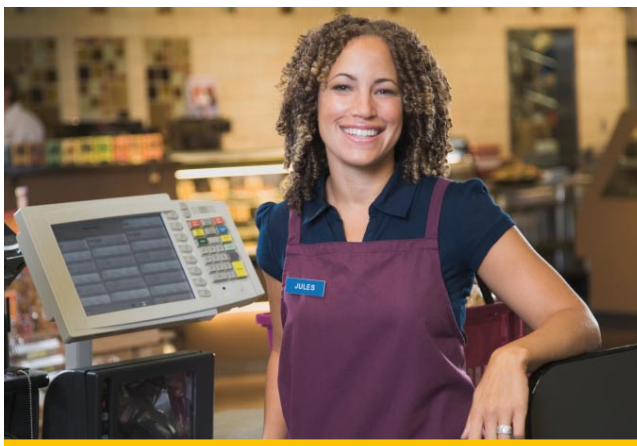

Welcome to entervo

Who is using your customer parking lots?

Have you ever asked this question if more vehicles stand on your car park than customers have entered your shop? Scheidt & Bachmann now offers the ideal solution for your car park by entervo ShopParking: Customer-friendly, reliable, efficient.

Studies have proved that distance is a prime criterion for the selection of a shopping location. Therefore, you should not rely on your customers coming to you if they have to park in a street or in a covered car park, because your car park is always occupied.

Whether food or non-food retailers, super markets and DIY stores, hotels and restaurants, libraries and museums – wherever even the tiniest customer car parks are used for other purposes than intended, the application of entervo Shop Parking will be profitable. Comfortable and pleasant for your customers, without problems and straightforward for your staff, ingenious and profitable for your company, this is how previous experience is reflected until now.

With entervo ShopParking you will control the parking time exactly to minutes. You can offer your customers a free parking time and settle this, if this time is exceeded, for example, against usual parking tariffs by your pay stations. For this purpose, the parking time is simply converted to an EAN bar code, which can be read and registered as a sales article by any commercial scanner cash register.

German Engineering – made by Scheidt & Bachmann. The quality brand entervo stands for German top technology, where long-living system components merge with process-optimizing software to a perfect unified whole.
